STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES:

Our aims and key driving forces are to create global platforms for the exchange of intelligence between solution providers and solution seekers, while keeping your personnel prepared for the future, equipping them to handle further technological changes or skill demands.

We expand the value provided to your organization by encouraging multi-faceted roles that are less likely to phase out with new technology.

And in a time where frictional unemployment is more prevalent, it's important to factor how you're developing your workforce.

MISSION:

We are committed to extend the resources of HM by providing excellent service for lifelong learning and professional development opportunities through quality needs-based educational program, creating a global platform for exchange of intelligence between solution providers and solution seekers.

VISION:

We foresee ourselves as a lifetime link to learning, becoming the foremost and reliable organisation in Africa that is respecting, Involving, welcoming, recognizing Individuality and Dynamics of the society by empowering people with compelling intelligence and to create a new standard for excellence in everything we do.

COMPANY GROWTH STRATEGY

HM is in a process of launching a new business unit "Business Resilience" looking to compete with traditional management consulting firms such as McKinsey and Bain & Company.

The unit will help clients to understand their business environment, confirm their business purpose, review current operations and to create an implementable and aligned plan for immediate implementation.

PROGRAMMES

Our training programs are highly streamlined; critical market research methods are used in the production of the Programmes to identify the unique challenges facing businesses today, both in the public and private sector.

Topics are designed to address the essential and strategic business intelligence needs of the day. We deliver genuine business solutions at competitive rates.

Our facilitators are all practicing specialists in their field with sound academic background. This ensure that our client have access to extensive experience and up-dated expertise. We place a high demand on their ability to relate knowledge and facilitate practical learning ensuring that delegates are able to apply what they have learnt when they return to their workplace.

ON-LINE TRAINING

As technology continued to advance, Corporate Learning and Development have been changed for the better and so is our training approach. Our Facilitators are now able to transfer concepts and knowledge to participants in real-time through Live Streaming.

With global employee collaboration and connectivity on the rise, live streaming has increasingly become one of the premier platforms for learning and development programs. Organizations are looking to meet the L&D needs of an increasingly diverse workforce, and live streaming is a cost-effective and engaging way to achieve that.
